

Understanding Personality Styles DVD

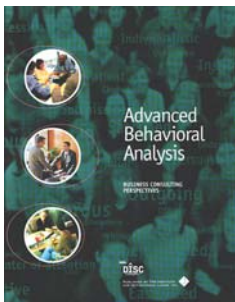

An interactive training DVD to help you discover more about your personality style and identify the style of others. This powerful teaching resource is ideal for both personal users and also trainers, covering DISC background, characteristics, team roles and communication of the different styles in a bright and entertaining format. The short and informative sections can serve as a launch point for discussion by live facilitators. Further enhance the experience with the follow-along Understanding Personality Styles Workbook, making learning and review simple and effective.

Introduction to Behavioural Analysis Course

This self-study course provides a comprehensive introduction to the DISC personality system, providing a greater understanding of colleagues, family and friends. It will help you discover how and why decisions are made and whether a person operates through task or relational orientation. By identifying the different personality styles you will be helped to motivate others toward greater productivity, enhance both professional and personal relationships as you learn the respective communication needs, maximise strengths and help children and teenagers to develop a positive self-image.

Advanced Behavioural Analysis DISC Course

This advanced training follows on from the Introductory level and unleashes the power of the DISC system as it relates to your business or career. The course provides in-depth training in profile interpretation and how to apply the results through business focused case studies using DISC analysis reports. This excellent resource helps improve your value in the workplace, empowering you to make more informed recruiting, team building & HR decisions, also in resolving conflicts and improving staff morale. Can assist in the advancement of your career as you learn marketable skills.

DISC courses are self-paced studies, with audio CDs, certification guide & ring binder. Upon satisfactory submission of the proficiency exam a certificate of completion is awarded (the courses do not provide certification or qualification in psychological counselling).

Goldisc is a SkillWorks approved supplier for training & courses.

Up to 60% training subsidy

In-Company Training Options

Accelerated training 1 day (helping to achieve faster certification)
Multiple delegate (with or without courseware)
Emphasis HR, team, stress management, customer service/sales